TASTING NOTE

Contained aromas of citrus and fresh fruit that become expressive with oxygenation time. Complexity full of life that recalls its origin.

VITICULTURE

The Ribeiro region is characterized by a continental climate that is softened by the influence from the Atlantic Ocean which provokes great diurnal temperature swings from day to night that favor a slow ripening and preserve the aromatic components in the grapes.

VINIFICATION

O Gran Mein Castes Brancas is made with local varieties. The grapes are harvested 12 kg boxes applying the colleteiro style. Cluster selection in the winery and whole cluster pressing. Only the first musts will be part O Gran Mein Castes Brancas. 12 months of aging in stainless steel, concrete, oak and demijohn.

FOOD MATCHING

Versatile. Pair with fish, seafood, poultry, pork, game bird. Also works well with tomato-based dishes and vegetables, especially grilled ones.
