TASTING NOTE

A rich, full-bodied Chardonnay made in Alto Valle del Río Negro, Patagonia by genius winemaker, Elías López. The vines were planted in 2002, and at 39° South, the climate is cool: leading to vibrant citrus flavours, and 11 months' ageing in 500 litre barrels brings additional nuances of vanilla, butter and caramel.

VITICULTURE

Clay-rich soils with lots of gravel that produce aromatic and concentrated grapes. Clay loam soil with rock sedimentation from the Andes. Groundwater very close to the roots. Vineyards planted in 2002, southern hemisphere, latitude -39, at a low altitude, abundant water, wide temperature range and constant winds.

FOOD MATCHING

Foods that have toasty flavours, as from toasted nuts, pastry crust, – grilling or smoking.
