TASTING NOTE

Bright, translucent ruby. Refined aromas of wild cherry, red berries and hibiscus, layered with incense, wild fennel, dried herbs and a delicate beeswax note. The palate is vibrant and finely structured, with silky yet compact tannins, fresh acidity and a subtle saline-mineral edge. Elegant, lifted and persistent, with a long, savoury finish.A distinctive Etna red that combines volcanic character with freshness, finesse and contemporary elegance.

VITICULTURE

Nerello Mascalese is cultivated at 840-860 metres on the northern slopes of Etna, in Sciaranuova, on black volcanic soils rich in mineral-bearing lava sands. Espalier-trained vines are pruned to spurred cordon and double spurred cordon. Organic and SOStain® practices encourage soil biodiversity, with natural cover crops and minimal treatments.

FOOD MATCHING

This shy yet surprisingly strong wine offers elegance and refinement for global cuisines. It pairs wonderfully with pork belly, quince and frosted dolphinfish.
